RAILROADS IN CALIFORNIA.—There are already two railroads running from Sacramento a distance of 40 miles or more, across the east side of the Sacramento Valley and into the Sierra Nevada. There are, First: the Central Pacific, which is now carrying freight and passengers to and from Clipper Gap, 45 miles from Sacramento, tapping the trade and travel of the important counties of Placer and Nevada, and which by September or October will be completed 20 miles further. Second, the Sacramento Valley and Placerville Railroads which, together, form a line of about the same length, and will in a few months bring Placerville in direct communication by rail with the capital, via Folsom. From Folsom, 22 miles from Sacramento, the Central Railroad runs northward through the edge of the valley and foothills to Lincoln, a distance of 18 miles, and is now being extended to Marysville, 24 miles further north, where it will connect with the Northern Railroad, already in operation, to Oroville 26 miles further. The grade of the Central Extension from Lincoln to Marysville is finished so far as Bear river, and north of that stream there remained to be graded when work was lately resumed only about 10 miles over a tolerably level country. We are informed that the iron for the entire 24 miles of track was bought, paid for and shipped at New York early in April, and is now on the way hither. The managers of the road expect to have it all laid by December, when the rolling stock on the first half of the road to Lincoln can be used for the entire distance from Folsom to Marysville. This will give Marysville railroad connection both north and south, and perfect a continuous line from Sacramento to Oroville 86 miles in length, nearly through the center of one of the finest agricultural regions in the State, and intersecting with lines penetrating the finest mining and timber region.

Southward of San Francisco the Western Pacific Railroad will continue this important highway to Stockton and San Jose, and thence to San Francisco, when we shall have uninterrupted railway communication from this city to Oroville, tapping the principal transmontane route, the richest mining counties, and the San Jose, San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, along a line nearly 170 miles long. The prospect of an early completion of these important highways, which may justly be regarded as the best outlets for industrial products and the vital arteries of trade, is having an excellent influence upon the material interests of the interior. The prosperous growth which has resulted to San Mateo and Santa Clara counties from the operation of the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad, is an example of the good results which may be anticipated for the northern counties from the completion of the railroads now under way, not to speak of others merely in contemplation. A better era is rapidly dawning upon the interior.—S. F. Bulletin.

THE SONORA SCHEME—OBJECTS OF DUKE GWIN.—The New York Express of 23d May says:

A gentleman from Havana gives the purport of a conversation with Dr. Gwin in reference to the Sonora question.

Mr. Gwin goes with [illegible] to Maximilian [illegible] from the [illegible], to carry out the system of [illegible] tion and development of the mineral and agricultural resources of the Province of Sonora, as proposed by Mr. Gwin. He will proceed, as soon as practicable by the way of Guaymas to Arispe, which will be the seat of Government, and where he will [illegible] as Director-in-Chief, and will be accompanied by a [illegible] force of French troops under the immediate [illegible] of Marshal Bazaine. Such portion of this force as he may indicate will remain in Sonora so long as he may deem it necessary for the purpose of [illegible] the [illegible], enforcing the laws, and protecting the [illegible] and agriculturists.

A code of laws, already prepared, will be immediately promulgated, somewhat similar to those prevailing in California. Courts will be established and order secured. The decrees of these courts will be carried into effect, for the present, by the military. All questions not provided for by this code will be settled by an Imperial Council, of which the Chief Director will be President, and will be disposed of in the most [illegible] way, so as to interfere as little as practicable with the progress of colonization. All [illegible] must be required to take the oath of allegiance to the Imperial Government of Mexico, should they design to become permanent [illegible]. This plan of colonization is one of peace and [illegible]. It is entirely disconnected with all political questions and movements, being intended simply to increase the revenue of the Mexican Empire, and enable it to pay off its foreign debts, particularly the debt to France, for which the receipts from all sources in Sonora will be pledged, over and above those necessary for the support of its Government.

It is said that Dr. Gwin disavows any ambitious purpose. He goes to Sonora in the expectation of spending his days there. He is [illegible] by his son, acting as his private secretary, and will be followed by his family, now in Paris. His pay will be $60,000 a year, to be secured from the products of the mines.

A Novel Scheme

Some time last winter, a proposition was made in Boston to the effect that the wealthy men of the country be requested to unite in paying our National debt by voluntary contributions for that purpose. At that time the suggestion was looked upon merely as a crotchet which had found a place in the fanciful brain of some very imaginative Yankee, whose patriotic fervor had completely dislodged all correct utilitarian ideas. But when we judge Yankee ideas to be absurd or chimerical we are in danger of putting ourselves in a position from which, by the defeat of our predictions, retraction becomes necessary. No great thing that this nation has ever done has the sanction of precedent. Novelty and originality are distinguishing features of the American mind. For those who are prone to prophesy about us it is excellent advice which admonishes them to have a care that they know the result, before they venture to predict. So many vicissitudes unusual and unforeseen, have befallen us during the last few years, that an incredulous astonishment at any proposition which even the boldest schemer could invent, would seem a glaring betrayal of unsophisticated simplicity, and would mark the poor plodder as one incapable of keeping pace with the progressive ideas of his age.

The idea of discharging the National debt in the manner indicated by the cunning Bostonian has been revived again in the East, and this time in all earnestness. New York has caught Boston's plan. The members are obeying the head. This time the proposition does not come forth in the shape of a crude notion; it is digested into a well arranged method. The debt approaches the inconceivable sum of three thousand millions. One hundred and fifty thousand shares of twenty thousand dollars each, is the division which is proposed. The plan, as soon as presented, met with an instant and favorable response in New York; a few of the wealthy citizens at once pledging several millions.

The wealthier classes throughout the whole country might donate the most liberal sum for this object without making up in the aggregate an amount that would approximate to the whole indebtedness of the country. But much might be made up from smaller sums. Certainly the debt might be materially reduced by the co-operation of all in the plan. It might be brought down to such a figure that thereafter the country could easily carry its load. It may be carried now without extraordinary effort, but if lessened one half, even light taxation would speedily enable us to get rid of the remainder. Whether in accordance with the plan now proposed in good earnest, any valuable results will be accomplished is yet to be seen, but it would not be surprising if, in conformity with their natural disposition to do singular and novel things, the Americans should now undertake the gigantic scheme of lifting its debt from the shoulders of the Government and starting it again unembarrassed and unburdened, on its great career.

THE REASON WHY.—One of the Oregon Copperhead papers whose name, wherever known, is an interchangeable word with treason and infamy, thinks the gallant Gen. Sheridan ought to hang him[illegible] through remorse for having fought so ably for his country. It cannot be wondered at that Sheridan is not liked by the "Democracy." He has administered too many severe blows to Southern "Democrats" to cause their Northern brethren to be fond of him. But while they so furiously attack Sheridan wouldn't it be well to praise the opposite examples of Forrest, the hero of Fort Pillow, of McCausland who piously [illegible]ed the Abolition town of Chambersburg, and of Quantrell, who so justly and valiantly massacred the inoffensive people of Lawrence? The Copperhead papers silently applaud these last named acts when they reprobate the gallantry of our patriotic soldiers. They abuse every one of our officers, who needs to be told the reason why?

THE NEW MINES—GREAT EXCITEMENT.—A letter received last evening in this city from Walla Walla, informs us that the interest felt in the newly discovered mines of Cœur d'Alene and Boat Encampment, is becoming much more general. From all parts of the upper country, miners are looking toward the new diggings. At Walla Walla great excitement prevails. Men are rapidly leaving that place intent on being among the first to obtain a share. From Boise and other places, the tide is setting toward the new mines. From the fact that we receive no contradictory accounts, it seems as if the first reports of the richness of these discoveries must be true.

Gen'l Gillmore announces to the chivalrous South Carolinians that the people of the black race are citizens of the United States, and that their rights shall be protected the same as those of the "ruling race" who are disposed to maltreat them, and who are whining about the hard fate that does not give a rebel any advantage or authority over a loyal negro.

TROOPS TO BE PAID.—We learn that Major Marston has returned from San Francisco with funds to pay off the troops in this District and that all the soldiers here will receive their pay as soon as the Paymasters can have time to reach the different posts. It is no fault of the officers here that payment has not been made before. There have been no funds for that purpose until now.

INDIAN DIFFICULTIES.—The route from Red Bluff to Idaho, is said to be infested with bands of marauding Indians to such an extent as to arrest all travel that way. Hill Beachy has lost forty-nine horses by these thieves. He has withdrawn his coaches and the remainder of his stock until the Indians are driven off.

HEAVY HAUL.—A detachment of our troops in Georgia, recently captured a prize of $2[illegible]1,000 in specie which had belonged to the late rebel Government. Its rebel possessors were endeavoring to convey it to a place of safety until they could send it out of the country.

REFLECTIVE DISCRETION.—The Washington Democrat says "it is now thought to be the height of impudence for a 'Democrat' to run for office." Sagacious remark! It is just so. We are glad "Democrats" have discovered this truth at last.

TRUE.—Sir Charles Lyell once said that our civil war was a conflict between a higher and a lower order of civilization. The eminent philosopher may now congratulate the world on the fact that the higher civilization has triumphed.

CABLE LAID.—The cable of the Russian Telegraph was successfully laid across Fraser river on Wednesday last.

A large flouring mill is soon to be built at La Grande.

FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT

A LOOK AT BOISE BASIN

IDAHO CITY, I. T., June 17, 1865

Since the time of my arrival in Placerville one week ago I have been rather agreeably employed in a survey of the different mining camps (which means mining towns) in the great Boise Basin. The renown of this rich gold region, famous for the extent of its valuable placers makes it at the present time [illegible] mining region [illegible] and worked. Those who were in California [illegible] look back upon the [illegible] days that [illegible] this Basin have never [illegible] all [illegible] this account [illegible] and produc[illegible]. After these remarks that are certainly just and deserved it will sound strange [illegible] say that every person I have met in the [illegible] and since my arrival have uttered [illegible] opinion that these mines have been overrated and that all business is overdone. This is certainly true for the reason that the miner and the merchant have made too great calculations for one thing and all have had [illegible] content with an uncommonly severe winter and long protracted spring, while the destructive fire that left in ruins this wonderful city, where now [illegible] all [illegible] in the most complete degree. The [illegible] hotel keeper, every shade of business has suffered, and even the miner and traveler have to pay an extra price for everything consumed. Business is everywhere dull just at present. The miners are everywhere hard at work, conscious in most instances that this chance may not soon be repeated and [illegible] is more intent upon using the water which is now abundant, than upon pleasure.

PLACERVILLE AND ITS MINES

While at Placerville I strolled over the hills and gulches enjoying the natural beauty of the scenery and interested in the mining prospects. I found many men who were apparently satisfied with the pay in their claims, though they concurred in the opinion that the miners were paying less than was anticipated. There were others again, who were mining on the surrounding hills and not making satisfactory wages. Wolf creek and Granite creek are only just commencing to be worked owing to the great amount of water running in them. A great many men will find employment in the creeks all summer and the prospects of the town will improve when the road up the Payette is repaired, which could be done in a week, but owing, it is thought, to the freeze out process going on among the stockholders, the work is unreasonably protracted and the road itself loses a great income as even the pack trains come around by this place while Placerville as a matter of course, misses the trade consequent upon travel, and the town is duller than usual.

QUARTZ MINES AROUND PLACERVILLE

I took a walk with a friend up Granite creek about three or four miles looking at the quartz ledges there some of which have become of note. The Pioneer lode presents a phase in quartz that I have never seen before. The mine more resembles a quarry than a lode there being for a width of 40 or 50 feet a great body of quartz, which is seamed with narrow veins of black sulphurets, which are exceedingly rich in gold. A mill was erected last fall about a mile down the creek from it and 1100 tons of rock were crushed, part from a quarry running with open face into the mountain, and part from a tunnel run in below it.—The yield was $16 per ton without pans, merely saving the gold with shaking tables. Of course this did not pay, but the general opinion is that the gold was not well saved by the process used. From the Lawyer Lodge located on Illinois gulch the same mill saved only $11 per ton. I saw several other ledges, and have a rich specimen taken from the Gold Hill lodge on which two tunnels have been run, one 150 and the other 200 feet long. These ledges near Placerville will afford, from their width and location an immense amount of quartz that can be very easily crushed. They have evidently supplied the gold found in such abundance below them and the chances are that when proper machinery is put to work, calculated to save the gold from the sulphurets that contain it, there will be money made by it. The ledges around Placerville will be more tested during the summer, and I expect to visit and examine them again.

CENTERVILLE

A ride of about five miles over wooded hills, and gulches that are generally auriferous, took me to Centerville, where I found quite a town built up and the usual proportion of stores, saloons and hotels. Mine host of the "Forest Hotel" astonished me by an excellent dinner, and I made the circuit of the town with the gentlemanly agent of Wells, Fargo & Co whose popularity insured in an hour thirty five subscribers to the DAILY OREGONIAN. Your paper is well appreciated in the Basin as the most reliable medium for the early reception of news, and when the people learn at what a low figure it can be afforded by express they invariably say they must have it. Centerville is a prominent point lying mid way through the Basin. Grimes' Creek on which the first diggings were struck, runs past it, affording more of a flood than the miners can conveniently use at present but here as at Placerville though more extensively, the hills are made to yield tribute to the stalwart arms that wield the pick in the deep cuts sometimes and sometimes in the shallow places. A great feature at all these camps, and along the hill sides wherever one goes is the number of ditches that seam the slopes rising one above another. It is estimated that there are one hundred miles of ditches upon Grimes Creek which is mined for fifteen miles. At Centerville the complaint is that the mines disappoint those working them though the creek had not yet been worked. The merchants complain of dull times.

THE MURDER CASE

At Centerville I attended the examination of the three men on trial for the late horrible murder. There seems no doubt entertained in the public mind of their guilt, and the citizens would probably have taken the matter in hand, and dealt out summary justice had not the officers of the law [illegible] on them closed the examination [illegible] and sent the prisoners off to this [illegible] between two days. They will be tried early in July. Charley Kimball one of them used to live in Portland four or five years ago and there married a Miss Ellwood who has left him. He there I think went under the name of D[illegible] and has at different times been known as Harris and Williams. His reputation is bad everywhere. His brother in law Ned Ellwood is also implicated. He was also from Portland and is supposed to have committed the act to which the others are accessories. The old man Burke is an ancient scoundrel of extensive practice who graduated in California. Near his camp were found skeleton keys and burglars' tools. When he steals a horse or mule the two others prove an alibi for him. His real name is said to be Walsh, though he is also known as Williams. The basin is at the present moment the resort of hundreds of such scoundrels who have sought refuge here from every quarter, and the late circumstances and developments render all men cautious how they stroll out of sight alone, much less travel the roads from place to place. There is no doubt that a salutary effect would be produced upon this community by the administration of quick vengeance on offenders of this class when the proof is sufficient to justify it. In the case of the late murder only circumstantial evidence is adduced, though it is proved that old Welch or Burke has inhabited state prisons and worked in chain gangs.

Letter from St Helens

ST HELENS, June 28, 1865

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Thinking some of our numerous speculators would like to know about the resources of our county I have thought it would be well to say something in regard to its mineral resources and other matters of importance.

There is a large iron mine within two miles of St Helens, three or four coal banks within a few miles and six or eight salt springs, none of which are being profitably worked.

There is one spring near here supposed to be a mineral spring. I am not acquainted with these springs and hence cannot say whether this one can be made profitable. There is a large body of good cedar timber within two or three miles of this town and within a shorter distance of the river. [illegible] of this is the best I have ever seen. Some of the lumbermen of Portland who send to Rainier for cedar timber would do well to examine this grove. It is unoccupied and now subject to entry. If any one desires to get more information in regard to any of these matters I will cheerfully give it. Yours

O. CAPLES

QUARTZ AT OWYHEE.—A letter from Owyhee June 19th informs us that things are brisk at that quarter. Over six hundred thousand dollars worth of feet had been sold to Eastern capitalists within a very few days.

SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date June 15th, 1865 and are payable three years from that time in currency or are convertible, at the option of the holder, into

Gold Bearing Bonds.

$1 [illegible] $5000

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET

GREAT POPULAR LOAN

Of the People!

Less than $300,000,000 of the loan authorized by the last Congress are now on the market.

This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed will all be subscribed for within four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents in whom they have confidence and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

[illegible] address of the Mayor was then read by [illegible]

[illegible] the Common Council

[illegible]—In accordance with the requ[illegible] of the City Charter, I lay before you a brief statement of the condition and affairs of this Corporation.

[illegible] commencement of my term [illegible] in April of [illegible] it was found [illegible] to make any re[illegible] financial condition of the city. No accounts [illegible] kept excepting a list of the warrants drawn [illegible] possible to ascertain the amount of warrants re[illegible] unpaid, except by a comparison of this list with [illegible] returned by the Treasurer. [illegible] kept of money appropriated [illegible] by the Council [illegible] for any [illegible] Since that time there has been paid on [illegible] on contracts and appropriations made [illegible] and on old City Warrants [illegible] deficiency, and also to meet the current ex[illegible] of the city for the remainder of the fiscal year [illegible] one-half months there remained in the Treas[illegible] in U. S. currency, subsequently sold at [illegible] dollar, the Delinquent tax roll for 1864, and the [illegible] for the remainder of the fiscal year from fines and [illegible] The new City Charter provided that the fiscal [illegible] terminate on the 31st December. The Coun[illegible] a special tax of one half of one per cent to pay [illegible] to 31st December, 1864, the income [illegible] has been $10,724 00. It will be seen that this [illegible] together with revenue from fines and licenses [illegible] short of the amount necessary to meet past indebt[illegible] the current expenditures for eight and one [illegible] In order to meet this deficiency it has been [illegible] to apply a considerable amount of the tax levied [illegible] fiscal year to the payment of debts in [illegible] prior to December 31st, 1864.

[illegible] thought necessary to make any statement of [illegible] and disbursements during the past year as [illegible] of the City Auditor will embrace in detail the [illegible] receipts and items of disbursement [illegible] the City Treasury for which no [illegible] have been drawn $15,115 35 of which amount [illegible] is in U. S. currency. Of this amount $1,[illegible] 10 is in special funds which cannot be applied to current [illegible]

[illegible] appropriated to the several funds [illegible] which may be applied upon present indebt[illegible] and appropriated for current ex[illegible] during the remainder of the fiscal [illegible] year, there remains [illegible] $[illegible],025 25

[illegible] amount due on salaries of officers, police, [illegible] and water, and for expenses of Fire De[illegible]ment, and authorized repairs to fire [illegible]ratus, unaudited, is estimated at [illegible] 000 00

[illegible] estimated revenue from all sources for [illegible] remaining six months of the current [illegible] fiscal year. [illegible],100 00

[illegible] for the remainder of the fiscal year, which [illegible] all salaries established by ordinance, usual al[illegible] to Fire Department, rents, contracts for gas and [illegible] of assessor, street commissioner and [illegible] of recorder's court and police, amounts [illegible]

[illegible] improvement in our financial condition is very [illegible] however, when compared with our position [illegible] year ago.

[illegible] has been made during the past year in the [illegible] of appropriating money, by classifying appropria[illegible] their proper heads. Section 1[illegible] of the Char[illegible] provides "that no money shall be drawn from the [illegible] but in pursuance of an appropriation for that [illegible] made by ordinance." [illegible] volume of money had never been classified, so [illegible] could be made of the different items of [illegible] and it was found difficult in commencing a [illegible] system to specify the items in ordinances ap[illegible]ting money. For this reason, and to avoid multi[illegible] ordinances making appropriations of small sums, [illegible] have been approved making general appropri[illegible] of money under proper heads without specifying [illegible] particular items to which such appropriations should [illegible]

An appropriation by ordinance to pay [illegible] or [illegible] expenses without specifying the items, would, [illegible] approved by the mayor, enable a majority of a quorum [illegible] the council to order warrants drawn upon either fund [illegible] any claim which they might audit, and thus defeat the [illegible] of the charter, which contemplates that no money [illegible] be drawn from the Treasury unless by the consent [illegible] majority of the members constituting the Council [illegible] if not approved by the Mayor, then by vote of two [illegible] of the members.

[illegible] salaries of nearly all the city officers are now es[illegible] by ordinance. A monthly allowance is made for [illegible] Fire Department; Gas and Water are furnished by [illegible] A careful examination of the items of expense [illegible] the past six months, will enable the Council to retrench [illegible] it may be possible, and make appropriations by [illegible] which will cover all ordinary expenditures. [illegible] of general ordinances which [illegible] provide the mode in which appropriations for repairs to [illegible] and public property, cisterns, lamps, fire appara[illegible] and also for stationery and advertising, shall be ex[illegible] This will greatly simplify the ordinances appro[illegible] money, enable the Auditor to audit all claims [illegible] presenting them to the Council as provided by the [illegible] and relieve the Council of the labor and time con[illegible] in auditing claims. There is now no obstacle to a [illegible] adherence to section 138 of the city charter, and I [illegible] that all ordinances appropriating money will be [illegible] in conformity with its provisions.

[illegible] that the amount now on hand, but appropria[illegible] funds which may be used for current expenses, be [illegible] by ordinance to the general fund; and that [illegible] on hand, together with the estimated revenue [illegible] balance of the year be apportioned to meet the [illegible] expenses to December 31st 1865.

[illegible] the past year John B. [illegible]rison obtained a [illegible] against the city for $4,976 [illegible] for personal [illegible] by him three or four years since. By [illegible] of the Council the City Attorney has taken an [illegible] to the Supreme Court.

[illegible] case of the city against Palmer and Stout for the [illegible] of the North Market Square, judgment was [illegible] in favor of the city at the last term of the Wasco [illegible] Court. I am advised that the defendants have [illegible] an appeal to the Supreme Court.

[illegible] has been enjoined from selling the real property [illegible] parties who are delinquent upon the tax roll [illegible] to those parties who have paid their taxes [illegible] that these suits should be brought to final decision [illegible] earliest possible time. The office of City Attorney [illegible] the coming year will be second to none in the cor[illegible] in importance to the tax payers.

[illegible] of the tax roll for the current year shows a [illegible] improvement over former years in the collection [illegible] the amount delinquent being less than three (3) [illegible] of the entire levy. Two-thirds of this amount [illegible] against real estate, the sale of which has been [illegible] by the Circuit Court, there being less than one [illegible] remaining uncollected, taxed against personal [illegible]

[illegible] the year there has been collected on the delin[illegible] tax list of 1863 over seven (7) per centum of the [illegible] levied in that year.

[illegible] of the opinion that with the exercise of proper [illegible] the ordinary tax for general municipal purposes [illegible] at least to meet the expenses of the city during [illegible] next fiscal year, and also meet any deficiency which [illegible] may exist at the close of the present year.

[illegible] Sec. 137 of the Charter provides that a tax not exceed[illegible] two per centum may be collected in each year for two [illegible] years, and a tax of half of one per centum in [illegible] other year for dredging the bars and otherwise im[illegible] proving the navigation of the Willamette river. The [illegible] did not find it necessary to exceed the limits of [illegible] taxation which they were authorized to levy in any one [illegible] year aside from this provision, and one half of one per [illegible] centum was levied as a special tax for that purpose.

The Council by ordinance empowered a committee to contract for the building of a dredging machine and create [illegible] from the amount raised for that purpose [illegible],000. The dredger is now nearly completed, and the [illegible] hope soon to have the same in successful ope[illegible] The balance of the special fund raised for the [illegible] remaining unappropriated is $1 7[illegible] 59. A special tax under section 137 may be required for working the dredging machine and removing snags. This work is of vital importance to the city, and if it should be found [illegible] a tax for this purpose would without doubt be [illegible] submitted to by the tax payers.

[illegible] the past year great progress has been made in [illegible] the boundaries of the different streets, and [illegible] monument at convenient distances. This has [illegible] stimulated improvement by grading, and [illegible] a great [illegible] a fruitful cause of dissension [illegible] of the [illegible] of the Council to the number of [illegible] of the [illegible] originally established. [illegible] they [illegible] all be made at once [illegible] the ordinance upon this subject will be so [illegible] to make it [illegible] within the grade [illegible] without great inconvenience.

[illegible] of opinion as to the best method of im[illegible] has delayed th[illegible] but it is hoped [illegible] will be carried on with energy. A contract has al[illegible] been let for a portion of Front street, and an ordi[illegible] has been [illegible] made for its improve[illegible] as far north as Pine street. Notice has already [illegible] given of intention to improve other streets. It is [illegible] hoped that the trial of the different methods of improve[illegible] now under way, will result in the adoption of some [illegible] plan, and I recommend that an ordinance be [illegible] the kind of improvement which will be [illegible] within certain limits. Where property is not [illegible] valuable to be permanently improved, the [illegible] can authorize property owners to make tempora[illegible] by grading and constructing narrow [illegible] but the city would reserve the right to enforce [illegible] improvement is established by ordinance at a future [illegible] subject to the limitations of the Charter, and in [illegible] the city could require an improvement which would [illegible]

The tax payers have been more than repaid during the past year for the expense attending the support of the Fire Department. We have narrowly escaped extensive fires, and this has been due to the alacrity of our firemen. Probably no city of its size is better supplied with [illegible] or can boast of a more efficient department. [illegible] appropriations as may be necessary to keep in re[illegible] pair cisterns, fire apparatus, and engine houses will be money well expended.

I call the attention of the Council to the amount ap[illegible] for the expense of boarding prisoners who are confined in the City Jail for violation of City Ordinances and hope that there will be some retrenchment made in this item of expense.

Some ten years since the city purchased of Ehuce Ca[illegible] and James Terwilliger grounds for a City Ceme[illegible]tery. The grounds were surveyed into burial lots and the land fenced. The plat made by the Surveyor cannot be found among the papers belonging to the city, and has [illegible] been recorded. I do not find that any power is [illegible] granted to the city to purchase a cemetery, but [illegible] that the Council ascertain whether the land [illegible] to the city for the purpose for which it was bought.

I recommend that an annual salary be paid to the Street Commissioner [illegible] be [illegible] of a suitable person who would [illegible] his entire time [illegible] the best interest of the city. [illegible] require the requisite [illegible] in the streets [illegible] and [illegible]

On the third ballot [illegible] for Street Commissioner, receiving five votes, [illegible] two, and Mr. Borkow two, Mr. Stuart was declared elected.

[illegible] ballot [illegible] for Auditor and Clerk of the City, H. Meeker received five votes, Charles [illegible] and [illegible] one vote. Mr. Meeker was [illegible] elected.

Permission was granted Mr. Martin [illegible] part of Front street for two days in removing a building at the Salmon street.

On motion, Friday evening of each week was chosen for the regular meeting of the Council.

The appointment of standing committees was deferred until the next meeting of the Board, and the Council adjourned.

A WANT OF PLEASURE SEEKERS SUPPLIED.—We are glad to notice that a want in one special want created by our population either in the pursuit of business or of [illegible] other than the mechanical skill and enterprise of our home industrial branches is found to profit the bargain [illegible] and that which is but just as greatest new want is no longer unsatisfied. In times past we have frequently alluded to those manufactures which were more immediately cognate to the mining, agricultural and general business interests of the North West, and now that most of those have become are in course of being rapidly and efficiently supplied, it is but natural that our citizens should seek opportunities for enjoyment and recuperation in sports more for the city walls and bustle. To this end establishments have been made at or near the mouth of the Columbia, to which delightful spots the seeker after health or pleasure may repair confident of realizing their fondest anticipations amid the scenes and sounds, and peculiar savory dishes of the salt sea coast. The crowds to the sea side, and the impossibility of detaining the regular mail steamers beyond their allotted time at Astoria, created a demand for safe and suitable yachts to convey passengers onward from the port of entry, and we are now enabled to announce, that to our knowledge one has been constructed with direct reference to the comfort and convenience of travelling parties to any of the exterior coast points of interest, in any weather. Those of our citizens who may have chanced to approach the river bank a few rods below Couch's wharf during the past two days, must have observed a taut and gracefully modeled sloop rigged yacht, of about 12 or 13 tons carrying capacity, bearing the appropriate name of Mist on her rounded stern. She has recently been built at this Point, of Oregon material—oak and fir—by Mr. N. H. Nice, under the supervision of her owner and commander, B. F. Hoxie, whose practical experience in sailing such boats on the turbid waters of Puget Sound, Gulf of Georgia, Straits of Fuca, and elsewhere, enables him to understand just what is required for safety in all weathers at the mouth of the Columbia. In order to a better comprehension of her capacity, we note her dimensions: Length of keel 30 feet, over all 33 feet; breadth of beam 12 feet 6 inches, depth of hold, 4 feet. Her cabin accommodations are 12 by 8 feet, with cushioned transoms extending under the deck to the sides of the vessel. The house is raised about 18 inches and well lighted, with plenty of room forward of the bulkhead for the storage of provisions, baggage, freight, &c., and a convenient stove for cooking or comfort. Aft the cabin is a cockpit about eight feet square, seated on three sides, which together with the top of the house, which is provided with a seat and a strong iron rail on either side, furnishes outside sitting accommodations for quite a party. Although not flat bottomed, she carries a 11 foot center board, with 6 feet drop below the keel, which, with her great carrying lines, will enable her not only to sail rapidly, but "close to the wind." Altogether, she is just such a craft as the nautical eye delights to rest upon, and cannot fail to become a popular conveyance for parties at the mouth of the river. She left on Wednesday evening for Astoria, from which place it is the intention of Capt. Hoxie to sail her [illegible] during the excursion season. We recommend her to the pleasure lovers of our State who may want to enjoy the [illegible] in seeing the sights or catching the fish of that [illegible]

DUTIES AT KOOTENAY.—The Radiator gives the following list of duties on merchandise going into Kootenai, as furnished that paper by Wm. C. Young, acting Collector at Fisherville. The following articles are subject to an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent: Beans, blankets, candles, ground coffee, drugs, chemicals, rice and sugar. And so on in proportion for any greater strength than proof. And on the value of proof, at the place from whence last imported, 20 per cent. Cigars and cheroots per 100 $1, and on the value thereof at the place from whence last imported, 20 per cent. Bulls, cows, calves, oxen, horses, asses and mules, $1 50 per head. The steamer Brother Jonathan arrived last evening at San Francisco from this place via Victoria.

We append the following from the Umatilla Advertiser:

From parties coming from Idaho, we learn that a wagon train from Chico, with 96,000 pounds flour had arrived within five days travel of Ruby City, and at that time had been on the road thirty-eight days. The price paid for freighting the flour was nine cents. Passengers by stage and saddle train had arrived in twelve days, paying $40 for passage, furnishing their own provisions. Cursing routes appears to be a necessity to travelers bound for Idaho, and they swear they will never return by the route they came. Let them try the Columbia river route, they will then be able to curse understandingly, having traveled both routes.

Report from Burnt river says that twenty seven head of horses have been stolen, belonging to M[illegible] Laughlin of Walla Walla. The thieves while making off with the animals, came upon a party of miners camped in Rye valley and stole their horses, five in number. One of the miners while defending his property was shot in the thigh, not seriously. The affair happened the 19th of the present month.

The burrs and machinery for a flouring mill on the Umatilla Indian Reservation are at this place and will be sent to their destination soon. The mill is for the use of the Reservation, and will be put in operation immediately.

Every ingredient is well known to have a beneficial effect on the teeth and gums, its embalming or antiseptic property, and a delicate aromatic fragrance makes it really a toilet luxury, and a pleasure to use it as it removes all disagreeable odors, even that of tobacco. It especially removes those ravages which children sustain in their teeth, owing to improper use of sweet and acid articles, which imperceptibly destroy them.

Trial of the Assassins—The Defense

WASHINGTON, May [illegible]th.—The Court re[illegible] to-day again [illegible] filled with spectators of both sexes, the largest part of them being unable to [illegible]. The main attraction is the appearance of the prisoners.

After the immense mass of evidence taken yesterday had been read, Rev. Father [illegible], living near Bryantown, Maryland, and Rev. Father Young, pastor of the Catholic Church, were severally sworn and testified that Mrs. Surratt had always had the reputation of being a woman of Christian character. These witnesses had never heard her express either loyal or disloyal sentiments.

Mrs. Howard Fitzpatrick testified that she boarded at Mrs. Surratt's house from the [illegible] October, until her arrest after the assassination; only saw Payne there three times, the last time in March; after it only stayed there a short time; believed Mrs. Surratt sent him away. While there he was treated like a son. Booth was there the Monday before the assassination; the last time witness saw John Surratt was the night he left home two weeks before the assassination.

B. F. Gwynn, residing near Surrattsville, testified that he was at Mrs. Surratt's house the day of the assassination. She gave him a letter to Mrs. North; saw John M. Lloyd that day at Marlboro; parted with him on the road that afternoon; did not see him afterward; he had been drinking right smart; did not see him at Mrs. Surratt's.

Captain George Cottingham testified that he was a special officer in Major O'Brien's Board of Enrollment; was engaged in making arrests after the assassination; saw Lloyd after arrest; he was put in my care at Surrattsville; he denied knowing anything about it, and for two days continued to deny it. I finally told him I was satisfied he knew about it; that he has had it on his mind, and the sooner he got rid of it the better. He said, "Oh my God, if I should make a confession they would murder me." Said I, "Who would murder you?" He said, "These parties in the conspiracy." I told him that if he was going to free himself by helping these parties out of it that was his business, not mine. I then put him in the guardhouse. He seemed much excited. The Lieutenant went to Washington for reinforcements. Lloyd then stated to me that Mrs. Surratt had come down to his place on Friday between four and five o'clock. She told him to have the firearms ready; that two men would call for them at 12 o'clock; that two men did call for them at 12 o'clock; that Harrold dismounted and went into Mrs. Surratt's or rather Lloyd's tavern and said, "I have something to tell you that he (Lloyd) said he did not want to hear it; that Harrold then told him to go up and get those fire arms. They were brought down, and Harrold took one; that Booth said he would not carry a carbine—it was as much as he could do to carry himself—that his leg was broken; that Booth said, "We have murdered the President," and that Harrold said, "We have picked off Seward." I was in the house when he came in from Bryantown and commenced crying out, "Oh Mrs. Surratt, that vile woman, she has ruined me." I said to him, "You stated that there were two carbines, and that Booth could not carry his, where is that carbine?" He told me it was up stairs, that Mrs. Surratt had some bags over it. I told him I would cut up the house before I would go away without it; with that he told the hired man to get an ax. I did not go into the room when he went, until I heard three knocks on the wall, and after about the seventh blow I saw the carbine. It had been suspended by a string above the plastering; the string seemed to have broken and it had fallen down.

Q.—You did not find the carbine where he told you it was? A.—No. I hunted for it but could not find it. Q.—During the two days while he was denying all knowledge of these parties did he mention the name of Mrs. Surratt? A.—Not while denying it; after he confessed he did. Q.—Did he tell you Mrs. Surratt brought the fire arms there? A.—No. I think he said Johnny Surratt brought them there.

R. J. Connelly, a former witness for the prosecution, now summoned for the defense, testified to coming from Baltimore with O'Laughlin Thursday afternoon, and they went to Lochren's or Rummen's Hotel. O'Laughlin asked me to go to the National Hotel. When he got there he went to the desk, telling me to wait, he would detain me only a few minutes; he left me standing at the door three or five minutes. We went back to Lochran's, and then up the avenue. We went as far as Eleventh street, and turned back and went to Walters' dining saloon, and took supper there, lasting three-quarters of an hour. Left there about half past seven or eight o'clock; returned to Rummen's Hotel, and went as far as Third street, when O'Laughlin and Murphy left me and Henderson, saying they were going to see Hoffman, and would see us on the corner; they returned, accompanied by Lochran, and five of us started up the avenue to see the illumination. Lochran wanted us to go as far as the Treasury Department, up Seventh street, when I complained of sore feet and would go no further. We returned down the other side, and then Murphy and Henderson said they had to leave, that it was getting up to nine o'clock; we went in the Canterbury Hall just as they were finishing the first piece. We staid there till ten o'clock, then went to the Metropolitan Hotel, and then to Rummen's Hotel, reaching there about ten o'clock.

Q.—Was O'Laughlin with you all that time? A.—He was, sir. We remained there about an hour. Millett was passing there with a lady, and stopped and spoke to O'Laughlin. I believe we left there then; others joined us and went down the avenue as far as Second street. O'Laughlin was acquainted at a saloon, corner of E and Second streets, where there was a dance or something going on, and took us over there. One of his party bought tickets and went into the ball; stayed about an hour; came out and went up the avenue to the Metropolitan Hotel; remained all the evening; we went out for fifteen minutes; came out and O'Laughlin was with me all night.

On cross-examination Connelly said he was under the influence of liquor, but did not see O'Laughlin drink; had known him four years and never saw him drink but twice.

Murphy testified that he lived in Baltimore, and was one of the persons with O'Laughlin on the 13th of April; that Henderson proposed a trip to Washington; witness corroborated the statement of the last one relative to movements that evening; O'Laughlin went out during the day, and was gone about thirty minutes to the National Hotel; O'Laughlin was not at Stanton's house Thursday evening.

Another witness testified that he lived in Washington; had known the prisoner about twenty months; saw him with a party of friends the 13th of April, but did not join the party till eight o'clock; witness mentioned various places visited by the party in the evening; the accused was not at Secretary Stanton's house with [illegible]; could not have been there at that time mentioned; O'Laughlin appeared merry, but not intoxicated.

Roletts testified he was agent for a crockery in New York; had known O'Laughlin two years; was with him the 13th of April, with others, until twelve o'clock; saw nothing unusual in his behavior; was with him the 14th when he received the news of the President's murder.

Purdy testified that he was superintendent of the Rubliman Hotel; O'Laughlin was there on the night of the 13th of April with a party of friends; was there when they closed at twelve o'clock; was there the night of the 14th when they received the news of the President's murder; O'Laughlin seemed surprised, and said he had been in Booth's company and people might think he had something to do with it.

Miller testified he had known O'Laughlin for twelve or fourteen years; saw him the 14th of April at Rubliman's Hotel about eight o'clock in the evening; saw him again later; did not know where he was between those times; he [illegible] sorry when he heard of the President's assassination, but displayed no alarm.

Martin testified he saw O'Laughlin in Baltimore April 16th, said he was going to give himself up on Monday morning.

The Court here adjourned until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

Several other witnesses were produced by the Government to show the bad treatment of our soldiers at Richmond and Andersonville. The defense called two or three additional witnesses to discredit the testimony of the other witnesses relative to Dr. Mudd.

At the opening of the Court, Aiken, counsel for Mrs. Surratt, asked for the recall of the witness Von Steinaker, as he thought his testimony could be contradicted.

Judge Advocate Holt said that, as this witness had been discharged without objection, he could not recall him for the prosecution.

B. F. Gwynn re-examined by Aiken, identified a letter written by Mrs. Surratt to Northey on the 11th of April last, concerning a settlement for a piece of land and threatening to bring suit.

G. H. Calvert identified a letter written by him to Mrs. Surratt dated April 12th, notifying her that Nothey was willing to settle with her and urging a settlement of his (Calvert's) claim of his late father's estate, however unpleasant. The witness was not at Surrattsville on the 14th of April.

W. L. Hoyle testified he was acquainted with Mrs. Surratt and never heard her express her sentiments; knew John H. Surratt by sight; saw him in this city the latter part of February or March; he is tall and rather light complexion, delicate looking, between twenty and twenty-three years of age, about six feet high; my impression is that he didn't wear a goatee or mustache. In the cross examination he testified he did not know positively; he was over five feet nine inches in height.

A. H. M[illegible] testified he resided in Baltimore; [illegible] to Michael O'Laughlin; he came from the South in August 1862; he was with his brother in the produce and feed business in Washington till the fall of [illegible]; his brother then moved to Washington, leaving Michael in charge. [illegible] Michael had charge of the [illegible], taking and receiving orders from customers; the [illegible] being supplied from Baltimore; he was here [illegible] the time his brother gave up business till the [illegible] of April; witness knew Booth intimately; Mrs. Booth owns property opposite [illegible]; Michael and William were schoolmates [illegible] Booth; Michael's intimacy with him has been for about twelve years; from the 18th of March till he came to Washington on the 13th of April Michael was with me; [illegible] he was at home from the [illegible] of April till the 13th.

Q.—State the circumstances of the surrender or arrest [illegible]. A.—He arrived [illegible] after the assassination; Saturday evening I saw him about [illegible]; the officers had then been in search [illegible]; I informed him of the fact [illegible].

Bingham—You need not state what he said to you; the declarations of the prisoner cannot be allowed in the defense.

Cox stated that evidence had been adduced by the prosecution to prove the prisoner was fleeing from arrest, and it was legitimate to meet it on the part of the defense by showing he voluntarily surrendered himself.

Judge Holt remarked the witness was cautioned not to repeat the declarations of the prisoners. He might state the facts relative to the request.

Q.—Did the prisoner protest his innocence?

Objected to by Bingham and the objection was sustained by the Court.

Q.—State whether or not the defendant asked you to procure an officer to take him into custody? A.—He did.

Mr. Bingham—I object to that, but, as the witness has answered, let it go.

Witness regarded O'Laughlin as very amiable; did not remember ever having seen him in a passion on any particular question; he had never been violent; never heard him express an opinion on the topics of the day except in a modest manner.

Afterwards the witness gave an account of the surrender of O'Laughlin to the officers.

An attempt was made by the defense to introduce evidence to show Booth was a man of pleasing address and likely to influence young men with whom he associated, but the Court would not allow it.

Henry Finnegan testified: He was in Montreal in February; knew Sanders, Cleary and others of that circle by sight; saw them at St. Lawrence Hall and various places; did not see Jacob Thompson or Tucker on the evening of the 14th or 15th of February; heard Cleary say to Sanders, "I suppose they are getting ready for the inauguration of Lincoln next month." Sanders replied, "Yes, but if the boys only have luck, Lincoln will not trouble them much longer." Cleary said, "Is everything well?" Sanders said, "Oh yes, Booth is bossing the job." Witness considered it at the time a piece of braggadocio and communicated it to the Government a few days since. Did not know John Surratt.

Charles Dawson identified a card sent to President Johnson, on the 14th of April, as having on it the signature of Booth.

Charles Sweeney testified to the cruel treatment of prisoners by the rebels.

James Young gave similar testimony. At Florence the prison keepers threatened to starve us because our army had made a raid through the country and destroyed food. The treatment was worse at Florence than Andersonville.

John Young testified to the identity of the confession made by Kennedy, who was hung in New York some time ago. The confession was made to Colonel Burke, and has been published.

Testimony for the defense was resumed.

James H. Northey testified he bought some land of Mrs. Surratt some years ago; he received a letter from her on the 11th of April by Gwynn; I owed her a part of the purchase money and wanted it settled; did not see her that day.

Dr. John C. Thomas testified to his brother telling him of the arrest of Mudd; the first time his brother ever spoke of the conversation with Mudd, some weeks before, was after the latter's arrest; his brother's mind was not exactly right for a long time in consequence of a paralytic attack. Witness' impression was that his brother's mind was not now sound at all times; he is very talkative, tells everything he hears and believes all he hears; he has not had an attack for some time and his health has been better. On cross examination witness said his brother stated Mudd said the President and Cabinet would all be killed in a few weeks, and that he, as other Union men in Washington, would be killed. My brother then seemed in his right mind, not at all excited.

Samuel McAllister, clerk of the Pennsylvania House, Washington, produced the register of that house and found the names of Dr. Mudd and J. F. Mudd on the register 23d of December last. Mudd is not on the register in January.

On cross examination witness was asked if he knew who the Dr. Mudd slept in the room with Atzerott the night of the assassination. He answered, "No, he was in bed when Atzerott came."

J. F. Mudd testified to being in Washington the 26th of December with Dr. Mudd. Witness detailed the transaction of that visit, which was purely a business one. Dr. Mudd is exemplary, he is of an amiable disposition, good citizen, good neighbor, besides being honest; have lived near him all my lifetime, and believe him humane; and said witness saw Booth in church near his residence the latter part of November. On the first of December, witness only knew his (Booth's) business from what he heard others say.

Q.—What was the common talk?

Judge Bingham—I object.

Ewing said the defense wished to show that Booth was in the country ostensibly for the purpose of selecting and investing in land; this was introduced as explanatory to his meeting with Dr. Mudd, whose family were large landholders and anxious to dispose of lands.

Judge Holt thought it a mere idle rumor, and was not properly admissable. Objection sustained.

On cross examination, witness said he had not heard the prisoner express sentiments of opposition to the policy of the Government, and had never known any disloyal act of his; never saw a Confederate soldier about his house; have heard of his shooting some of his negroes, and have no doubt of its truth; heard that the slave refused to do something and the Doctor shot him in the [illegible] of the leg to frighten him; never heard him talk a great deal in opposition to the Administration, except with reference to the emancipation policy.

Francis Lucas testified to having served on Christmas last to bring some articles purchased by Dr. Mudd to his house.

[illegible] Thomas, residing in Charles county (Md.), testified that he was introduced to a man named Booth by Dr. Green at his house in October or November last; think he brought a letter to Green from somebody in Montreal named Martin; it was simply a letter of introduction stating that Booth wanted to see the country; witness introduced Booth to Dr. Mudd; Booth's ostensible object was to purchase land; he so stated to me. I think I told him Henry Mudd, father of the accused, was a large property holder and he might purchase land from him. Booth asked me in regard to roads leading to the Potomac river. I told him I knew them as far as Allen's Fresh and Newport, but no further; think Booth asked me if there were any horses in the neighborhood for sale; told him I didn't know; that Government had taken them to Washington and sold them; think Booth staid at Dr. Green's house that night and the next day; think I saw him again about the middle of December, when he staid at Dr. Green's all night, and left early in the morning. Dr. Green is 71 years of age and bedridden.

On cross examination witness said Booth never bought any land there to his knowledge.

The court then adjourned till to-morrow.

THE NEW PRESIDENT OF THE CONFEDERACY.—Now that Davis and Stephens have both [illegible], the Presidency of the Southern Confederacy devolves upon the Speaker of the rebel House of Congress. Thomas S. Bocock, of Virginia, is the fortunate individual. He has not yet made his appearance to receive the oath of office, but is supposed, in anticipation of the event of his ascension, to [illegible] employed in retirement on his inaugural. Among the first documents submitted to his consideration will doubtless be official reports from Generals Lee, Johnston and Taylor.—[illegible] Commercial, May [illegible].

All quiet on the road east of Denver. Troops in [illegible] of the Eleventh Kansas Cavalry left [illegible] to-day for protection of Overland Stage Road west of North Platte. [illegible]

LILLIE'S LOCK OPENED

In One Minute.

NEW YORK, September 2, 1864.

F. TILLMAN, Esq., 318 Battery street,

Between Commercial and Clay, San Francisco.

DEAR SIR: WE NOTICE AN ADvertisement in your daily papers respecting the "security" of the Lillie lock. We are aware that you well understand this lock and, of course, will not allow yourself to be annoyed by such representations. We have just sent for one of our men at the factory, and he in our presence opened one of Lillie's best safe locks after it had been locked and the [illegible] turned on.

The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you the lock that you and others may not be deceived by false representations, etc.

Respectfully, etc.,

CHARLESTOWN, March 26, 1864.

Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND,

Sole Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase [illegible] of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called safe was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe with what is left of the papers and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we witnessed McKenna & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make) and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc.—their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes been subjected to the same fire, faring, however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servants,

(Signed.) GEO. L. CHESBORO & CO.

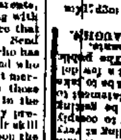
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Comb Place, Pad'; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary; Charing Cross, Agar street, Strand; London, Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies; see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, cough, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some of Hassold's [illegible] newspaper [illegible] Intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it.
